

Pops of citrus brights – a desk lamp here, a throw pillow there – give Hôtel Henriette's rooms a playful feel, while the traditional-style courtyard with iron furniture exudes Parisian elegance.

Hôtel Henriette

9 Rue des Gobelins, Quartier Mouffetard, Paris, France

THE DESIGNER Paris interior designer Vanessa Scoffier.

THE LOOK Clever and sweet Scandi chic.

THE DETAILS Working on a tight budget, but also wanting to create a feel that was both high end and homely, Scoffier describes the mood of Hôtel Henriette as “vintage, bohème and très DIY”. Fresh modern furnishings blend with flea market finds and thrifty design solutions, such as plywood splashed with graphic swatches of colourful paint.
